Creating a State Symbol - State Fruit and Vegetable Contest

Educators,

This contest incorporates health and the importance of eating more fruits and vegetables into lessons in science and/or social studies to align with state standards for studying the legislative process, state symbols, or origins of plants to determine a native state fruit and vegetable. Creative displays to go with a written draft proposal are welcome. Multiple methods of presentations to meet various learning styles are welcome. Small group or individual entries are welcome.

As a nation, state, community, and individuals, health and well-being are a needed priority. Multiple private and public agencies are looking to solve the health disparities and promote health for all. Various advisory committees from all sectors of the community have formed a framework to improve health for all people. On a national level, the US government plan Healthy People 2030, states that “promoting and achieving health and well-being nationwide is a shared responsibility that is distributed across the national, state, tribal, and community levels, including the public, private, and not-for-profit sectors”. Many states, including Pennsylvania, have a State Health Improvement Plan. (SHIP). HCL is on the task force working on the new plan to set priorities, direct resource use, and develop projects, programs, and policies. Research conveys a supportive community incorporating health into all environments, policies, agencies, and curriculum is needed to achieve health. Thank you for joining in developing a healthy community.
